Strathpeffer Medical Practice

As the colder months slowly approach it is that time of year when we highlight the Flu vaccination programme to our patients.

This year a letter will be sent to all of our patients who are eligible for flu vaccination at the Practice. These patients can contact the Practice towards the end of September to make their appointment.

We will be holding an extra flu clinic on Saturday 31st October in the Strathpeffer Practice between 9am and 12noon. You can make an appointment for this clinic or just drop-in at your convenience.

Please look out for posters in the local shops, surgery and community centre with more details of clinic times & contact details.

Community Link Update

The Community Walk along part of the old railway at the end of August was a great success. Following this we have a small working party who are identifying what practical steps we can do to clear the path, increasing the pressure on the Council to move the Link and work with the landowners to understand the issue and find solutions. In just under a month we have already had the loan of a mulching mower from Frank Nicol and the core path from the Victorian Station to the Sewage works is now open and free of weeds. With the help of a few fantastic volunteers further sections of the path have been cleared and we will be calling on the group of people to help move branches and clear ditches. This will make it easier for us to access the countryside and walk safely to Dingwall. For further information check out the facebook page (Strathpeffer to Dingwall Community Link) or our new website which is coming together:

www.strathdinglinkpath.co.uk

Remembering the Strathpeffer Area

The project which investigates the heritage in Strathpeffer, Jamestown and the Heights has been running since July. The results of all the discussions, sharing memories, looking at maps and photographs and organised walks will be reviewed and designed into an exhibition which will be on show for the first time at Strathpeffer's Christmas Market on Saturday 28th November. The information will also be used to produce an updated walk leaflet, while the participants of the Creative Writing Course are working hard on writing fictional short stories which will be printed and bound ready for free distribution.

Children from P7 went to find out what it was like to grow up during WW2. They meet and interviewed the elderly residents from around Strathpeffer.

Children's Holiday Activities

We have a number of activities organised to keep the children occupied during the October Holidays. Everything from Cricket, Drumming, Blethers Café, Emergency First Aid for children, Films Basketball and Craft session. Watch out in the children's bag for further details or keep an eye on our Facebook page.

Remember to check the village website
www.strathpeffer.org
 For all your news and what's on in the area

Village Website

Following recent meetings the What's On and Diary sections of the website have been taken down due to the resource required to collate and then input information.

It is hoped that these pages can be reintroduced and the Website committee are asking for a volunteer to undertake the activity. This involves an awareness of what is on and going to be on in the village: Community Centre, Pavilion, Community Council, Sports Clubs, Strath Band, etc. It would be necessary to chase up information where it is not publicly available.

Information will then need to be entered into the website as required. Technical assistance and training are both available.

This job does however require a degree of commitment; there is no point in making a good start and then tailing off so that the required degree of topicality is no longer there.

If you are interested in helping your community in this way please contact Kit Bowen on kit@kinellan.org

Strathpeffer Community Council Election

Community Council Elections must be held every 4 years and in Highland, these will take place across the area this Autumn. Community Councils are voluntary organisations which represent their local community and act as a voice to express concerns and views of the local people and to take on local projects, raising funds and encouraging people to become involved.

Strathpeffer Community Council flagged up almost a year ago that it would need new members this Autumn and by the time this edition of the StrathTimes is published the deadline for nominations (6 October) is likely to have passed. Several of the current members will be stepping down in November, or rather not nominating themselves for re-election. There is a great opportunity for new people to come forward with new ideas, knowledge and skills to progress current projects and initiate new ones.

So there have been posters and notices around the village, an article in the Ross-shire Journal, messages and information on the Community Website and hopefully plenty of word-of-mouth in the last couple of months which should have encouraged lots of people to self-nominate to join the next Community Council Strathpeffer has a quota of 8 Community Council members and needs at least 4 to be formed – but 4 members would barely be representative of a whole village! If the required number of members is not met, we will have no community council and therefore no voice for our village. Hopefully this won't happen and if it does the community may wish to call a meeting to discuss how the existing projects, currently being supported or run by the Community Council can be taken forward. So much time and effort has already been put in, that it would be a shame for it to go to waste.

For those who have already submitted nominations, Strathpeffer Community Council business is in good shape. It has been well managed and the administration is up-to-date. There has been an effort to really share the load so all the work doesn't land on the shoulders of just a few and this has worked well. A few members would like to be re-elected and this would provide some continuity for existing projects and contacts.

Full information on the election procedure and timetable is published on the Highland Council website. Follow the link:

http://www.highland.gov.uk/info/799/elections_and_voting/643/community_councils

Nominations opened on Tuesday 22 September and the deadline for submitting nomination papers is 4 pm on Tuesday 6 October.

If you would like to know more about Strathpeffer Community Council and the work it does please come along to the October Meeting on Monday 5 October at 7 pm, or contact Alison Munro-White (Secretary) or Peter Walling (Vice-Chair) by leaving a message at Strathpeffer Community Centre 01997 421989 or email secretary@strathcouncil.org.uk.

Strathpeffer Community Council members would like to take this opportunity to give special thanks to the outgoing Chair Kit Bowen who stepped down in May. Kit has worked tirelessly for the last 8 years to try and raise funds for the community, support projects run by other village groups and keep a close watch on planning and public consultations which affect the village.

Christmas market

This year's Strathpeffer Christmas Market is on Saturday 28th November, 10am – 1.30pm at Strathpeffer Community Centre. This is your perfect opportunity to buy those unusual gifts. Individually designed jewellery to locally grown organic vegetables; from books to knitting; from fossils to cards.

This year there will be an exhibition on Remembering the Strathpeffer Area, a project that has been ongoing for the past 4 months. Not forgetting Santa's Grotto, where children can visit Father Christmas, tell him all the presents they want and get a small gift in the process.

To keep your strength up while you shop, why not have a rest in the café and treat yourself to a bacon roll or a home-made cake, while listening to some live music. There are still some stalls left so anyone wanting a stall should contact the Community Centre.

Need exercise but hate exercise?

Why you should learn to dance.

- You won't notice that it's exercise.
- You generally get to do it with a member of the opposite sex.
- You can pause for a drink whenever you feel like it.
- The training is painless and stress free. This is not "Strictly".
- It doesn't cost much.
- It's a great night out for two.
- Men - women love to dance.
- Women - men are sometimes a bit more reluctant. Put something on short supply till he capitulates.

Put on your dancing shoes!

Each Monday from September 7th onwards the Dingwall and District Ballroom and Social Dance Club will start with a coaching session for beginners. If your notion of ballroom dance is big frocks and snooty expressions or the complex manoeuvres of "Strictly" then set it aside. The Dingwall class is informal, friendly, easy and fun. You will learn a variety of dances - fast and slow. At the end of the evening you will have had an excellent workout without even noticing that you have been exercising. Later on you can celebrate your new skills at our Christmas dinner dance to a live band - always a great and traditional way to celebrate the season.

Men - if you are shy of trying it remember that the majority of women love to dance. They appreciate any dance partner - permanent or not, who has taken the time to learn. Not so long ago it was expected as a matter of course that all men could dance. A reluctance to do so marked you as a lesser being and drastically reduced your chances of finding a partner. Things may have changed but the ladies still love it. Come along and try it out. Delight your partner. Mondays at 07.30 PM in the National Hotel, Dingwall. Admission £2.50. Dress informal.

- The club has been going for 27 years - the photograph is of a celebration of 25 years of the club held in 2013.
- There are about 46 club members at present.
- Both ballroom and sequence dances are taught.
- Our highly experienced instructors are David Moffat and Pat MacMillan. Both have been teaching for many years and have a relaxed and sympathetic teaching style.
- The club is a non profit making organisation. If funds permit we support local charities.

Any queries can be directed to the club secretary - Stuart Brown 01349 864787.
